CONTRACT FOR LAST MILE OF PAVING SIGNED

AMARILLO ROAD TO CONNECT WITH FOURTH AVE.

$400,000 Project, First Unit In County's Improvement Program
To Be Opened In September.

Contracts have been signed for the last unit of paving between Canyon and Amarillo. County Judge B. F. Fronbarger said here today. The unit will connect the road with Fourth Avenue in Canyon.

Ben F. Flynn Construction Company crews, now nearing Amarillo with the slab, will be moved to Canyon probably in August to lay approximately one mile of concrete provided for in the contracts signed this week. Mr. Fronbarger said.

Randall County hopes to dedicate this $400,000 road, the first unit of a general highway improvement program, early in September, he said.

Construction of the last mile of the road, beginning at the foot of the hill north of town and connecting with city paving at Fourth Avenue, was provided for in an addition made to the Flynn company's contract by agreement, county officials said.

The paving in the city limits will be only 18 feet wide, and provision for curb and gutter structures will be made by the city, it was understood.

By the time the Amarillo road is completed, county commissioners hoped to begin grading and drainage work on a new highway to Happy, which later is to be hard-surfaced. This road will complete the all-weather route north and south through the county which commissioners planned more than two years ago when bonds were voted for improving the Amarillo road.

Petitions for the road south were circulated here last week and county officials believed more than enough signatures for their purpose had been obtained.

Present plans call for a rock and gravel foundation with an asphalt topping although there still is hope here that sufficient state and federal aid will be given to permit concrete paving.

Plans of the commissioners include improvement of the highway west to Hereford as soon as the north-and-south road has been completed. This project still is in a tentative stage, with right-of-way problems to be settled and additional funds to be provided, members of the commissioners court said.

More than two years will be required to complete the highway building program outlined by the commissioners court, its members said, even if there is no delay in securing governmental aid in financing the work.

Pastor Talks To College Students

Rev. W. C. Kunze, pastor of the local Presbyterian Church, made an interesting and valuable talk to the student body at the chapel hour last Tuesday. His subject was "College Temptations." His organization of subject matter was splendid. He introduced his subject by referring to a college professor's recent lecture encouraging college graduates to be snobs, stating that after reflection on his part, he decided that he himself was a snob, and that in the right sense of the word we should all be snobs.

Rev. Kunze discussed various phases of college life and their influence on the life and character of the individual, showing the path which should be taken by the student and stating that the great temptations of college life should be upward; although the idea of conformity often points downward, the big aim of college is to tempt students into the bigger things of life.

SOIL SURVEY WORK STARTS HERE JUNE 15

E. H. TEMPLIN OF BUREAU OF SOILS COMING HERE.

Expects to Receive Final Orders
Within Next Few Days—Work
Is Co-operative.

Soil survey work in Randall County is expected to start about July 15, according to E. H. Templin, field agent of the federal bureau of soils who now is stationed at Amarillo.

Templin has just finished survey work in Potter County. Preliminary work on the Randall County Project already is underway he indicated, and he expected to be in the field July 15.

While he has not been notified officially to start work, Randall has been designated as the next county in this district to be surveyed, Templin said. Final orders were expected within a few days, he said.

Soil survey work is financed jointly by state and federal appropriation.

Every phase of agricultural activity in its relation to soil types is considered in making a survey, county agricultural agents here said. Great improvement in the adaptation of crops to soils, and increased efficiency in soil preparation are two major results of soil work, they said.

The designation of Randall County for a survey came as a result of petitions signed by a majority of farmers and sent to the bureau of soils in December last year.

F. W. Reeder, 18, Fatally Hurt When Motorcycle Crashes

F. W. Reeder, 18, was fatally injured Saturday morning on the Hereford highway when he lost control of his motorcycle and plunged into a ditch. A severe fracture at the base of his skull was the immediate cause of his death, physicians said, although he suffered bruises and other injuries in the fall.

The boy was rushed to an Amarillo hospital by a Griggs-Thompson ambulance where physicians operated in an attempt to remove pressure from his brain caused by the skull injury. He died within two hours after the accident without regaining consciousness.

Friends who saw the accident from a nearby wheat field said that Reeder lost control of his machine as he waved a greeting.

Reeder lived with his parents on the W. H. Hicks place nine miles west of Canyon. His brother now is recovering from injuries, received recently from an accident on the same cycle, physicians were told.

Funeral services for the boy were held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. The pastor, the Rev. C. E. Jameson, was in charge.

Two Fires Reported In Wheat Fields In First Harvest Week

W. C. Gunter, a farmer living west of Canyon, lost a combine and approximately 100 acres of wheat by fire Friday afternoon, according to reports received here.

The fire started in the combine while the machine was in operation and spread quickly to the wheat field.

A similar fire Saturday afternoon in a combine operating in a field leased by Marcellus Wilson, destroyed an undetermined acreage of wheat and caused minor damage to the machine.

Annual Camp For West Texas Girls Starts August 8

Announcement has been made that the tenth annual Northwest Texas Girl's encampment will be held at the Methodist Camp Ground in the Palo Duro Canyon, August 8-28.

A large number of girls of the Panhandle will be present at the encampment and will spend the days there learning many worthwhile things under competent leadership. Basketry, archery, nature lore, swimming, horseback riding, music, and religious exercises will make the days memorable ones for every girl who takes part.

Several notable persons in the field of young people's work are to be present and will help direct the activities of the girls. One of these, Miss Julia Lake Stevens, council superintendent of young people, of Nashville, Tennessee, comes from the Woman's Missionary Council and will do much to make the encampment worth much to the girls. She will be present at the encampment August 14-21.

Other workers who will probably be present are Miss Emma Jewell Ross, of New York City, representative of the Young Women's Christian Association and Girl Reserve work, and Miss Louise Price, of New York City, National Camp Director of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. T. C. Delaney will be manager of the encampment. Abe Mulkey will act as assistant manager, Verna Crump as executive secretary and treasurer, while Rev. Jno. E. Eldridge will be Camp "Dad."

The camp staff will include platform managers, a dietitian, ground supervisors, leaders of devotionals and vespers, pianists, soloists and directors of physical education, nature lore, archery, and basketry.

The girls will camp in groups of eight or ten, each group having a chaperone. Each group should have a tent, which may be rented. Girls who want tents should notify Verna Crump, Memphis, Texas. Expenses for each camper have never exceeded $10.00.

Grain buyers in four towns of the Canyon trade territory told the Canyon News Tuesday night that a total of 445 cars of wheat already have been shipped. An additional 85 cars was estimated to be in storage either in elevators or on the ground.

More than 750,000 bushels of grain from the 1929 crop have been received by elevators in Canyon, Happy, Dawn, and Umbarger, grain buyers advised the News in telephone conversations yesterday afternoon. Fully 50 per cent of the crop yet is to be harvested, elevator managers estimated. Less than 60 per cent of the grain out already has been harvested, they believe.

On the basis of 85 cents per bushel, an exceedingly conservative price, grain sold up to Tuesday night represents a valuation of more than $560,000. Grain prices yesterday stood at 91 and 92 cents throughout the Canyon district.

All cars are being loaded about 10 per cent above their rated capacity, the grain buyers said. Railroad companies are encouraging overloading to this extent in order to facilitate moving of the crop, according to the elevator managers.

Few stories of unusual yields are current. The general yield, according to best available information, seems to be 25 bushels to the acre. The largest reported yield was in the Happy territory where Roger Gist harvested 52 bushels from a 40-acre tract of his wheat land. Largest average yields on any one tract of land was placed at 37 bushels.

Wheat raised by Albert Byars on the J. C. Pipkin farm near Canyon has been yielding 37 bushels consistently, Mr. Pipkin said. First wheat marketed in Canyon this year came from this farm, although the field maturing first averaged only 20 bushels.

The 1929 crop seems without doubt to have set a record for all time both as to quality of wheat and total production.

Figures for the four towns represented in the survey made by the News are as follows: Canyon, 111 cars, with an undetermined amount in storage; Dawn, 25 cars; Umbarger, 68 cars; Happy, 325 cars. These figures, with the exception of Canyon, include grain in storage and already shipped to other markets.

Fossil Remains Are Found in Canyons By Faculty Member

Do you know that the South Ceta Canyons are of scientific value? Although fossil plants and bones degenerate and form all kinds of shapes with various colors, we are neither interested nor muscular enough to hunt these specimens up and examine them. It takes a scientist, an appreciator of art, or a keen observer to appreciate the value of these canyons.

W. D. Mateer, a faculty member, who has been studying the canyons, has recently discovered a bed of fossil plants and an ancient jaw bone.

The fossil bed is located in the South Ceta Canyons. The plants were found in shape, somewhat like a baseball, but they had fluted sides with grooves running the length of the plant. They also resemble some of the cactus plants, but they grew in swamps instead of on dry land. It is apparent that they grew in an ancient swamp, although they are found five hundred feet above the level of the plain in a silt pocket, and in soft clay fifty feet in diameter in sandstone. Although sand deposits have covered the plants they have been preserved in almost perfect shape. Of the plants collected Mr. Mateer has identified five different varieties, but there are many others left to be identified.

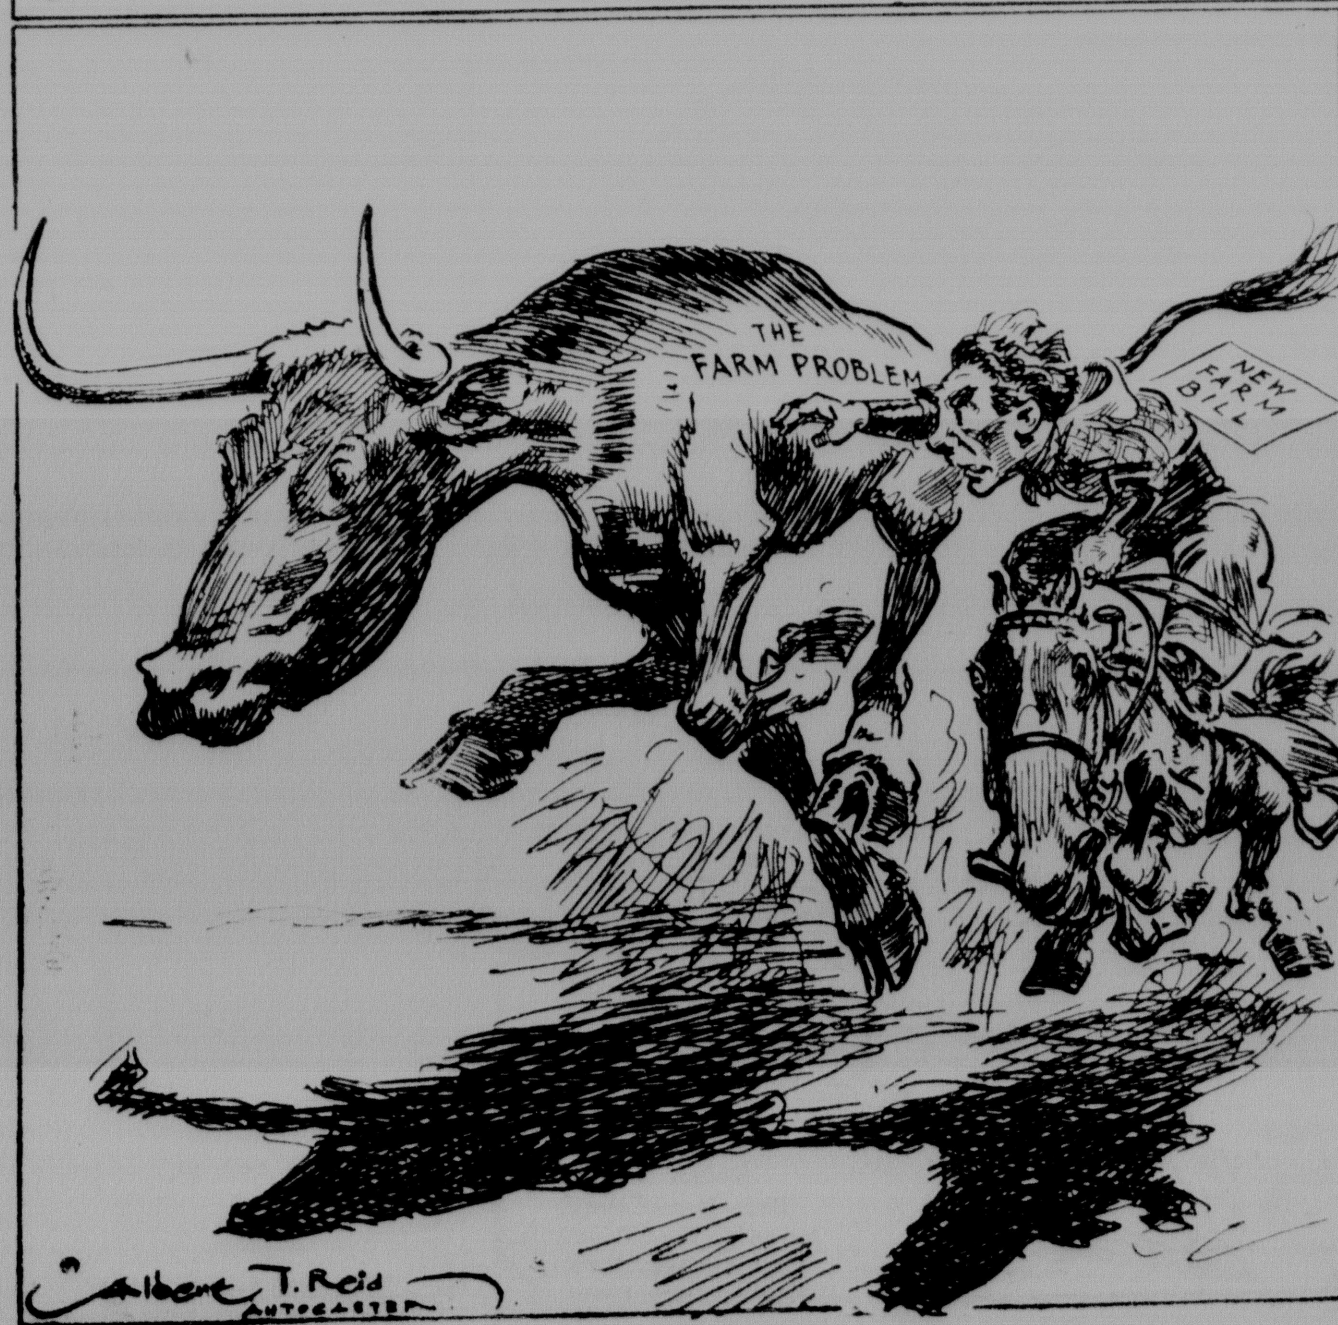

Another specimen of interest is the 10-inch jawbone on an ancestral horse found near the bed of fossil plants. The formation where this bone was found is known as the equus bed; this bed contains large quantities of fossil remains.

In this same place there are numerous other varieties of bones and plants that Mr. Mateer expects to identify soon.

Mrs. T. H. Walters and daughters visited with friends and relatives in Tulia Sunday.

Petitions for the road south were circulated here last week and county officials believed more than enough signatures for their purpose had been obtained.

Present plans call for a rock and gravel foundation with an asphalt topping although there still is hope here that sufficient state and federal aid will be given to permit concrete paving.

Plans of the commissioners include improvement of the highway west to Hereford as soon as the north-and-south road has been completed. This project still is in a tentative stage, with right-of-way problems to be settled and additional funds to be provided, members of the commissioners court said.

More than two years will be required to complete the highway building program outlined by the commissioners court, its members said, even if there is no delay in securing governmental aid in financing the work.

F. W. Reeder, 18, Fatally Hurt When Motorcycle Crashes

F. W. Reeder, 18, was fatally injured Saturday morning on the Hereford highway when he lost control of his motorcycle and plunged into a ditch. A severe fracture at the base of his skull was the immediate cause of his death, physicians said, although he suffered bruises and other injuries in the fall.

The boy was rushed to an Amarillo hospital by a Griggs-Thompson ambulance where physicians operated in an attempt to remove pressure from his brain caused by the skull injury. He died within two hours after the accident without regaining consciousness.

Friends who saw the accident from a nearby wheat field said that Reeder lost control of his machine as he waved a greeting.

Reeder lived with his parents on the W. H. Hicks place nine miles west of Canyon. His brother now is recovering from injuries, received recently from an accident on the same cycle, physicians were told.

Funeral services for the boy were held Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church. The pastor, the Rev. C. E. Jameson, was in charge.

Two Fires Reported In Wheat Fields In First Harvest Week

W. C. Gunter, a farmer living west of Canyon, lost a combine and approximately 100 acres of wheat by fire Friday afternoon, according to reports received here.

The fire started in the combine while the machine was in operation and spread quickly to the wheat field.

A similar fire Saturday afternoon in a combine operating in a field leased by Marcellus Wilson, destroyed an undetermined acreage of wheat and caused minor damage to the machine.

Annual Camp For West Texas Girls Starts August 8

Announcement has been made that the tenth annual Northwest Texas Girl's encampment will be held at the Methodist Camp Ground in the Palo Duro Canyon, August 8-28.

A large number of girls of the Panhandle will be present at the encampment and will spend the days there learning many worthwhile things under competent leadership. Basketry, archery, nature lore, swimming, horseback riding, music, and religious exercises will make the days memorable ones for every girl who takes part.

Several notable persons in the field of young people's work are to be present and will help direct the activities of the girls. One of these, Miss Julia Lake Stevens, council superintendent of young people, of Nashville, Tennessee, comes from the Woman's Missionary Council and will do much to make the encampment worth much to the girls. She will be present at the encampment August 14-21.

Other workers who will probably be present are Miss Emma Jewell Ross, of New York City, representative of the Young Women's Christian Association and Girl Reserve work, and Miss Louise Price, of New York City, National Camp Director of Girl Scouts.

Mrs. T. C. Delaney will be manager of the encampment. Abe Mulkey will act as assistant manager, Verna Crump as executive secretary and treasurer, while Rev. Jno. E. Eldridge will be Camp "Dad."

The camp staff will include platform managers, a dietitian, ground supervisors, leaders of devotionals and vespers, pianists, soloists and directors of physical education, nature lore, archery, and basketry.

The girls will camp in groups of eight or ten, each group having a chaperone. Each group should have a tent, which may be rented. Girls who want tents should notify Verna Crump, Memphis, Texas. Expenses for each camper have never exceeded $10.00.

Grain buyers in four towns of the Canyon trade territory told the Canyon News Tuesday night that a total of 445 cars of wheat already have been shipped. An additional 85 cars was estimated to be in storage either in elevators or on the ground.

More than 750,000 bushels of grain from the 1929 crop have been received by elevators in Canyon, Happy, Dawn, and Umberger, grain buyers advised the News in telephone conversations yesterday afternoon. Fully 50 per cent of the crop yet is to be harvested, elevator managers estimated. Less than 60 per cent of the grain out already has been harvested, they believe.

On the basis of 85 cents per bushel, an exceedingly conservative price, grain sold up to Tuesday night represents a valuation of more than $560,000. Grain prices yesterday stood at 91 and 92 cents throughout the Canyon district.

All cars are being loaded about 10 per cent above their rated capacity, the grain buyers said. Railroad companies are encouraging overloading to this extent in order to facilitate moving of the crop, according to the elevator managers.

Few stories of unusual yields are current. The general yield, according to best available information, seems to be 25 bushels to the acre. The largest reported yield was in the Happy territory where Roger Gist harvested 52 bushels from a 40-acre tract of his wheat land. Largest average yields on any one tract of land was placed at 37 bushels.

Wheat raised by Albert Byars on the J. C. Pipkin farm near Canyon has been yielding 37 bushels consistently, Mr. Pipkin said. First wheat marketed in Canyon this year came from this farm, although the field maturing first averaged only 20 bushels.

The 1929 crop seems without doubt to have set a record for all time both as to quality of wheat and total production.

Figures for the four towns represented in the survey made by the News are as follows: Canyon, 111 cars, with an undetermined amount in storage; Dawn, 25 cars; Umberger, 68 cars; Happy, 325 cars. These figures, with the exception of Canyon, include grain in storage and already shipped to other markets.

Fossil Remains Are Found in Canyons By Faculty Member

Do you know that the South Ceta Canyons are of scientific value? Although fossil plants and bones degenerate and form all kinds of shapes with various colors, we are neither interested nor muscular enough to hunt these specimens up and examine them. It takes a scientist, an appreciator of art, or a keen observer to appreciate the value of these canyons.

W. D. Mateer, a faculty member, who has been studying the canyons, has recently discovered a bed of fossil plants and an ancient jaw bone.

The fossil bed is located in the South Ceta Canyons. The plants were round in shape, somewhat like a baseball, but they had fluted sides with grooves running the length of the plant. They also resemble some of the cactus plants, but they grew in swamps instead of on dry land. It is apparent that they grew in an ancient swamp, although they are found five hundred feet above the level of the plain in a silt pocket, and in soft clay fifty feet in diameter in sandstone. Although sand deposits have covered the plants they have been preserved in almost perfect shape. Of the plants collected Mr. Mateer has identified five different varieties, but there are many others left to be identified.

Another specimen of interest is the 10-inch jawbone on an ancestral horse found near the bed of fossil plants. The formation where this bone was found is known as the equus bed; this bed contains large quantities of fossil remains.

In this same place there are numerous other varieties of bones and plants that Mr. Mateer expects to identify soon.

THE GRIP OF SCANDAL

An Ohio State University professor, respected and honored, is under arrest, charged with the murder of a young girl student. For some time, it develops, he and the girl maintained a "love nest," as the headlines call it, in a Columbus rooming house.

Regardless of how the man fares in the trial for the murder, it is obvious that his plight will provide material for gossip for some time to come. We are always fascinated when, getting an unexpected peek into the private affairs of an acquaintance, we find them scandalous. Usually it is quite a while before we will stop talking about it.

Part of this is due to our natural love for gossip. But there is more to it than that. Generally speaking, we get excited over the unsuspected peccadilloes of such a man because they reveal unlooked-for openings in his character. We set a man down as thoroughly commonplace and uninteresting—and lo! we find, abruptly that he has had a secret life of his own, in which he roved far afield and struck off into unknown paths.

That discovery always surprises us. And yet it needn't. No man is what he appears to be on the surface. In every human story there are chapters that do not, ordinarily get read. No one is in position to pass judgment on his neighbor, not having had the opportunity to look behind the curtain of his private life.

And it is encouraging to realize that these unknown chapters are not always scandalous. The scandalous ones are the ones we notice; but they are, usually, an insignificant part of the whole, but the public usually succeeds to make them the major part.

We are forced into the commonplace by our jobs. The necessity of earning a living puts most of us into a rut and keeps us there. But people have their adventures, nevertheless—adventures about which their fellows never know, but which give them meaning and richness to their lives just the same.

The most ordinary-looking man you rub elbows with in the street is not ordinary at all, to himself. He is unique, heaven-born, progressing from mystery to mystery. You do not know what strange dreams or lofty visions sustain him; what sacrifices have given significance to his life, what hidden ambitions lie buried in his heart. You can never know—any more than he can know the same thing about you.

Yet those things are there, just the same. All of us have them. We get glimpses of magic sights in the sunset sky, hear distant trumpets beyond the horizon, and know that we shall some day arise from the grip of the commonplace and come into our heritage.

This is every man's secret—every man's private adventure. No one is "ordinary" or uninteresting, if his whole life is known.

But we do not realize this until some scandal jars our attention to a focus. Then it is that we are willing and anxious, too often, to accept the whole fabric woven in the imagination of the public, diluted by the demand to bare the entire scenes of his life as revealed in the light of colored and unfavorable scandal.

The most costly tomb in existence is that which was erected to the memory of Mohammed. The diamonds and rubies used in the decorations are valued at $10,000,000.

IN REVIEW

Owing to the fact that this article is written several days before the Legislature adjourns; and in view of the fact that most of the important legislation for the session is hanging fire in free conferences at this time; and in view of the fact that this article will be printed before the legislature adjourns but will not reach the reader until after the close of the session, it is hard to review with safety the work of the second called session.

The present session promised to be the hardest work of the 41st Legislature until it stubbed its toe on the Robison investigation. This investigation has cost many thousands of dollars and consumed more time than was warranted. Before it proceeded far it was conceded that it would end in failure to substantiate the charges against the Land Commissioner, but after criminal charges are preferred, it is usually wise to hear all evidence before passing judgment.

One of the most important bills of the session is the penitentiary centralization act. It calls for a commission to select and recommend a proper location for the system and report to the legislature this winter. This means another called session of the legislature. If this legislature is able to solve the penitentiary system, it will have disposed of a fifty-year-old question which has puzzled every legislature.

The gasoline tax and the automobile reduction bills are linked together in final disposition. The House passed the provision exempting the tax on gasoline used in farm tractors. This exemption was written into the bill through the united efforts of West Texas representatives. To A. B. Tarwater of Plainview goes the laurels of having fought for this idea from the time the legislature opened in January until the bill was finally passed. The reader will know from the daily press the final disposition of this bill by the Senate and the free conference.

The legislature has faced an unusual hard situation in ironing out the difficulties between the House and Senate appropriations bills. Unless these bills remain within the revenue of the state, the Governor threatens to veto these bills and call back the legislature at once.

It is likely that the committee on the Oklahoma boundary question will make another trip to Oklahoma within a short while. The Attorney General of Texas has approved the idea set forth by the Oklahoma Legislature that the boundary may be settled by a compact between the two states, with the approval of Congress. The resolution provides that reports on a compact shall be made to the next session of the legislature.

People of West Texas are interested in the rapid rise of Judge A. B. Martin of Plainview. He quit a very lucrative private practice of law to accept a place on the commission of the Court of Criminal Appeals. Judge Martin could be elected Governor, if he would consent to enter the campaign. No man in Austin stands higher in his profession. Few who have held office have commanded the respect of all as Judge Martin.

Political observers have placed in the hall of fame the name of Senator C. C. Small. Entering the Senate for his first term in January, Senator Small has developed into a regular leader of progressive thoughts in the upper house. Political observers have been very frank in predicting that Senator Small has a brilliant future in the political arena should he decide to continue playing the game.

Huge Demand for Sargon Smashing World's Records

If anyone told you that one single medicine had relieved tens of thousands of suffering men and women in all walks of life of their health troubles and that it had put thousands of other men and women unable to find relief back to work, it would sound impossible, wouldn't it?

But that is just exactly what is happening right here in this state. Not only has it brought them new-found health and strength, but it has given them new energy, new vitality and a new lease on life itself. In many cases, the results have been so remarkable that many people have bought it and sent it to friends in other states, while other thousands have written grateful letters of praise.

The wonderful success that Sargon Soft Mass Pills have achieved in only one year's time simply staggers the imagination.

In the state of California alone where it was introduced on April 16 of this year, it has required the astonishing total of nine solid carloads—or more than 200,000 bottles—to supply the demand. Kansas retailers and wholesalers have sold and distributed over 300,000 bottles in the states of Kansas and Missouri. Minneapolis and St. Paul dealers have required nine entire carloads in five months. The demand in practically every state and section where Sargon has been introduced has been correspondingly large. When national distribution has been completed it will require millions upon millions of bottles to supply the ever-increasing demand for this celebrated medicine.

Back of Sargon's triumph in the drug stores is Sargon's triumph in the homes. Everywhere it has been introduced it has become a household word and it is unquestionably the most widely talked-of medicine in the world today.

When Sargon was first given to the world just one year ago, it was hailed as a triumph in the field of modern medicine. Many well known authorities who watched its development freely predicted that it would become the one great outstanding, health-giving remedy of the age. But the men of science who labored for years to perfect it little dreamed it would become such a great boon to humanity in so short a time.

Sargon may be obtained in Canyon at J. J. Walker Drug Store. (Advertising.)

to Modernize this Small Home

HERE is an example of modernizing in which very few changes were required to work wonders in the appearance of a plain house. A new side porch, attractive window shutters and an arch over the front steps made it into a really attractive little home.

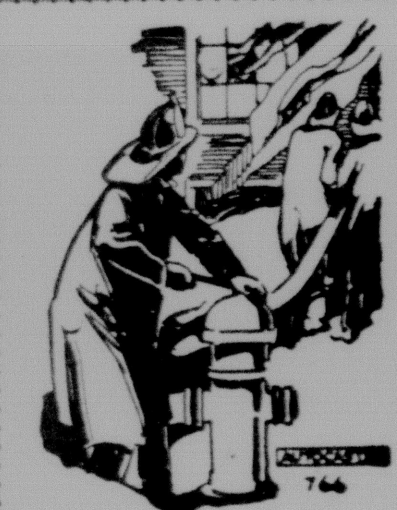

This is one of the advantages of modernizing! It makes old homes new with a minimum of labor and expense.

Perhaps you own a house which could be modernized at most reasonable cost. We would appreciate an opportunity to talk over its remodeling possibilities with you and give you estimates on the approximate cost.

WARNING

As usual, when the news goes out that there is a good crop being harvested in the Panhandle, the house to house, farm to farm, county to county, state to state agent and slicker of one kind or another begins to invade the country. I have had several complaints, in the past few days, from farmers throughout the Panhandle, claiming that they had been visited by so-called EYE DOCTORS, who claim Amarillo as their home, and of course they claim they are permanently located in Amarillo, or some other near-by town, when, in fact, they have no permanent office or place of business, where they can be found, but are simply travelling about from place to place, selling cheap, inferior eye glasses, for a big price, and when they leave, they have your money, and you, in many instances have a pair of glasses, that are not properly fitted, for the very simple reason, that if they had the ability to properly fit glasses, they are unable to carry proper equipment to do so.

Now there are some honest, straight-dealing Eye men travelling from place to place, but they are very scarce, so if you want to be on the safe side, it is always best to make some very thorough investigations before allowing one of this class the privilege of caring for your eyesight.

There are many Eye men located in Amarillo and the surrounding towns, who are well-known, permanently located, reliable, and above all, have spent thousands of dollars equipping their offices, and making other preparations which will enable them to render you the most high-class service, and when you deal with a man who is permanently located—AND YOU KNOW HE IS PERMANENTLY LOCATED, then if you find any fault with his work, you know where to find him.

WE HAVE BEEN IN AMARILLO SINCE 1912. Here you will find a most up-to-date, equipped optical establishment, where you may have your eyes thoroughly examined, and glasses fitted at standard prices, then if they are not satisfactory, you may return any time within six months, and they will be refitted without charge.

Simple, Wasn't It?
to Modernize this Small Home

HERE is an example of modernizing in which very few changes were required to work wonders in the appearance of a plain house. A new side porch, attractive window shutters and an arch over the front steps made it into a really attractive little home.

This is one of the advantages of modernizing! It makes old homes new with a minimum of labor and expense.

Perhaps you own a house which could be modernized at most reasonable cost. We would appreciate an opportunity to talk over its remodeling possibilities with you and give you estimates on the approximate cost.

WARNING

As usual, when the news goes out that there is a good crop being harvested in the Panhandle, the house to house, farm to farm, county to county, state to state agent and slicker of one kind or another begins to invade the country. I have had several complaints, in the past few days, from farmers throughout the Panhandle, claiming that they had been visited by so-called EYE DOCTORS, who claim Amarillo as their home, and of course they claim they are permanently located in Amarillo, or some other near-by town, when, in fact, they have no permanent office or place of business, where they can be found, but are simply travelling about from place to place, selling cheap, inferior eye glasses, for a big price, and when they leave, they have your money, and you, in many instances, have a pair of glasses, that are not properly fitted, for the very simple reason, that if they had the ability to properly fit glasses, they are unable to carry proper equipment to do so.

Now there are some honest, straight-dealing Eye men travelling from place to place, but they are very scarce, so if you want to be on the safe side, it is always best to make some very thorough investigations before allowing one of this class the privilege of caring for your eyesight.

There are many Eye men located in Amarillo and the surrounding towns, who are well-known, permanently located, reliable, and above all, have spent thousands of dollars equipping their offices, and making other preparations which will enable them to render you the most high-class service, and when you deal with a man who is permanently located—AND YOU KNOW HE IS PERMANENTLY LOCATED, then if you find any fault with his work, you know where to find him.

WE HAVE BEEN IN AMARILLO SINCE 1912. Here you will find a most up-to-date, equipped optical establishment, where you may have your eyes thoroughly examined, and glasses fitted at standard prices, then if they are not satisfactory, you may return any time within six months, and they will be refitted without charge.

WHAT HAPPENED SO FAR
Tom Bilbeck is the narrator. He is a fat newspaper writer who drives a tumbledown car he calls Grandmother Page. He is in love with Maryella, his rival being Jim Cooper. The three are members of an amateur dramatic group. Plans for a play at the Old Soldiers' Home are under way. Grandmother Page has engine trouble while Maryella is out driving with Bilbeck, and Cooper, passing in a big roadster, taunts him. After Maryella has left Bilbeck is able to start his car again.

The amateur players are to give Pygmalion and Galatea at the Old Soldiers' Home. In their version Bilbeck is to act as the statue, and Maryella despairs when she discovers his bow legs. Mrs. Hemmingway later flatters Bilbeck and talks to him about the play. Bilbeck pats her hand, only to find a rough hand grasping him by the shoulder and lifting him out of his seat.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Mr. Hemmingway does not belong to the club. He is managing editor of the Daily Mail, and has to work nights too often. But he usually calls for his wife to take her home from rehearsals.

We stood in the aisle and glared at one another.

"Why John?" Mrs. Hemmingway interposed. "I wasn't expecting you for quite a while yet."

"I can see that," he retorted, not taking his eyes from my face. "Now all I want to know is who you are," he shouted at me. "Take off that mask before I yank it off."

He made a motion toward me with his open hand.

His wife stopped him. "Don't, John. It's Tom Bilbeck. That's his real face."

John Hemmingway's jaw fell. He and I are close friends. We went through all our schooling together, and we belong to the same secret societies. I suppose we have sworn eternal friendship and brotherly love on a dozen occasions. It was partly owing to him that I held down my star job on the newspaper.

"Oh!" he exclaimed, and turned to his wife. "But—"

She had stepped out in the aisle

boy from the box office.

"Yes, replied John. What is it?"

"You're wanted on the telephone."

Hemmingway left us a dejected group.

"What can we do?" wailed Maryella disconsolately. "What will the old soldiers do?"

"Don't worry," Mrs. Hemmingway said. "I'll manage him some way. I'll fix the costume up so that he will approve all right."

She sighed with regret at the idea.

Hemmingway returned. "Get dressed, Tom," he said to me. "We've got to go over to the office."

"What happened?" I asked. "There has been a jail delivery at the penitentiary, and twenty prisoners have escaped. It's a big story, and we'll have to have you handle it."

A chorus of protests went up at the idea of my leaving the rehearsal. I was just peeved enough so that it did not make any difference to me. They had made fun of me, and now that I had a good excuse for withdrawing they could see how they could get along without me.

The idea of taking the long, cold trip out to the penitentiary did not appeal to me in itself, but I was glad to be able to leave the theatre.

Hemmingway had gone after telling his wife that he would send a taxi to take her home.

The coach came out in front of the curtain to announce that the stage was all set for the third act.

"Everybody on stage," he requested. I did not respond.

"Surely you are not going to go away during a dress rehearsal?" said Jim Cooper.

"I really have to go," I replied, and added bitterly: "It doesn't make any particular difference. I believe that you will find the dummy more pleasing to some of the members of the cast, and if you use it I'm sure it will save a lot of trouble."

"Maryella"—Jim turned to her—"can't you say something to make Tom remain? He'll do it for you."

Maryella looked at me with a coldly flashing eye.

"I doubt," she hesitated, "whether anything I could say would have any effect. I imagine that his interest in the rehearsal will cease with Mrs. Hemmingway's departure."

I could scarce believe my ears. How could she be so unreasonable? I turned on my heel and made down the aisle for the front entrance of the theatre.

"Tom," some one shouted after me.

I continued my way unheeding.

"Oh, Tom! Wait a minute," implored Jim.

I did not answer. If I had I might have said something that I should have regretted exceedingly later.

Some one was coming down the aisle after me. I quickened my pace, determined to listen to no pleadings. Maryella had chosen to bring personalities into it, and I would not stand for it, that was all.

I reached the main entrance of the theatre and stepped through a door into the brightly lit lobby.

A man who was buying tickets at the box office looked up and with a yell ran out into the street, leaving his change behind on the shelf.

Some one opened the door I had just closed behind me. I did not look around.

"Tom!"

It was Jim Cooper's voice.

"Well?"

"I thought you might want these if you are going over to the office."

He thrust something into my hands and then hastened back into the theatre.

It was my trousers!

CHAPTER III.

Watch for the Big Surprise!

The penitentiary is one of the things that places our city on the map. Therefore any happening of importance out there dominates the local news and figures largely also in the United Press dispatches.

The prison authorities had been having considerable trouble because of a number of men among the prisoners who were agitating for an eight-hour day, and some new fox-trot records for the phonograph, or something like that. The warden had not granted their demands, so this jail-delivery practically amounted to a strike. The men who escaped left word that they would not come back until their demands were acceded to.

Of course it was really a lot more serious than that, but I wrote it up in that fashion for the Daily Mail. Not that I felt particularly facetious—far from it; but that is my newspaper style. The public and my employers expect it of me.

What really occupied my mind was the unpleasant recollection of my departure from the Sheridan Dramatic Club and simultaneously from the good graces of one Maryella, eminently desirable spinster. I also had room in my consciousness for an uneasy speculation as to whether or not John Hemmingway really thought that I was flirting with his wife. I could get another job, of course, but my berth on the Daily Mail and its allied syndicate was very pleasant and lucrative.

They had to hold the presses for me on the city edition until I returned from the "pen," so that it was after two when I finally left the office to get supper at an all-night lunch-counter. I turned in about three, but didn't get to sleep for an hour or so after that.

It seemed as if I had barely dozed off when my telephone rang. I got up and answered it.

"Hello," I growled.

"Hello, Tom. This is Jim Cooper talking."

I muttered something under my breath.

"Don't swear," he observed pleasantly. "You ought to be glad I woke you up."

"Glad?" I repeated, incredulously. "What have I got to be glad about?"

"Because Maryella wants to talk to you, for one thing. She asked me to tell you to come over to her house as soon as possible. You see, it is all for the best."

"Go to the deuce," I advised crossly.

"I should be glad to," he was answering in an untruffled tone as I hung up the receiver.

I went back to my nice warm bed, but sleep was effectually routed for the day. My curiosity was aroused.

What did Maryella want? Probably something wherein I would be the nickel-plated goat. I was suspicious.

Still, it was nice of her to make the first move toward reconciliation. In the past that had always been my part. Maybe she knew she was in the wrong and wanted to apologize.

There was only one way to find out. I got up and dressed.

After breakfast I walked to Maryella's house. The air was quite cold and a light snow was falling. We had had cold weather before, and there was a couple of inches of ice on the river, but this was our first snow-storm.

Mrs. Hemmingway was with Maryella. The huge living-room of the Waite home was littered with sewing materials, endless ruffles and basting-threads. A cheerful fire was burning in the grate.

The two young women were on the floor cutting something out of white cloth. The atmosphere was too happy and industrious for me to preserve my grutch in. I almost regret to say that I thawed at once.

"We're making pads," Maryella explained after I was comfortably settled.

"For me?" I asked suspiciously.

"—for everybody who needs them," Maryella added hastily, interpreting the hostility in my tone.

"For you, for Mr. Cooper and for Mrs. Hemmingway."

"For Mrs. Hemmingway?" I repeated incredulously. "I don't see what she needs of—"

Maryella interrupted me before I could finish.

"Mrs. Hemmingway, who is speechless with modest blushes, wishes me to thank you on behalf of herself and her Creator. As a matter of fact we are not making any pads for her. Quite the reverse in fact."

"But we are building some for you and Jim."

"You should see the fine chest we have wished on our husky Greek warrior; and as for as you are concerned—well, all I can say is that we used Mrs. Hemmingway for a pattern. But that is not what I asked you to come over and talk about."

"No?" with a polite inflection from me.

"No. Did you ever read a story entitled, 'Pollyanna'?"

"Not yet," I replied with my best noncommittal manner. "I have heard of it though. What's it about?"

"It's about a great many things," Maryella explained seriously, "but mostly it's the story of a girl who believes that no matter what happens it is all for the best. She is an awfully dear little child, and she always looks on the bright side of everything. It's sort of sad too, because she gets hurt once and nearly dies, but she cheers everybody up just the same and tells them that it is all for the best because it has been a dull season for the undertakers anyway."

Mrs. Hemmingway was genuinely alarmed now, and feared that he was in earnest.

"This is all for Art."

"I don't care whether it is for Art or for Tom Bilbeck. Go, cover 'em up."

By this time the rest of the company had heard the discussion, which had been conducted in the same tones as those ordinarily used on the bleachers at a baseball game. They gathered around.

"Please, Mr. Hemmingway," pleaded Maryella. "You couldn't make Helen withdraw now. It will break up the show."

"If she doesn't it will break up the Hemmingway family," he declared firmly.

"Not any more," her husband stated firmly. "You can quit right here. I won't have my wife parading around in that kind of a—whatever it is."

"It's a Greek tunic."

"It is not," he declared, looking at it more closely. "It's my best silk sport shirt with the neck cut out and a little embroidery around the tails! Go and get on some clothes and I will take you home."

"Oh, John! You don't mean it."

Mrs. Hemmingway was genuinely alarmed now, and feared that he was in earnest.

"This is all for Art."

"I don't care whether it is for Art or for Tom Bilbeck. Go, cover 'em up."

By this time the rest of the company had heard the discussion, which had been conducted in the same tones as those ordinarily used on the bleachers at a baseball game. They gathered around.

"Please, Mr. Hemmingway," pleaded Maryella. "You couldn't make Helen withdraw now. It will break up the show."

"If she doesn't it will break up the Hemmingway family," he declared firmly.

"Is Mr. Hemmingway here?" inquired a voice loudly from the rear of the auditorium. It was the boy from the box office.

"Yes, replied John. What is it?"

"You're wanted on the telephone."

Hemmingway left us a dejected group.

"What can we do?" wailed Maryella disconsolately. "What will the old soldiers do?"

"Don't worry," Mrs. Hemmingway said. "I'll manage him some way. I'll fix the costume up so that he will approve all right."

She sighed with regret at the idea.

Hemmingway returned.

"Get dressed, Tom," he said to me. "We've got to go over to the office."

"What happened?" I asked.

"There has been a jail delivery at the penitentiary, and twenty prisoners have escaped. It's a big story, and we'll have to have you handle it."

A chorus of protests went up at the idea of my leaving the rehearsal. I was just peeved enough so that it did not make any difference to me. They had made fun of me, and now that I had a good excuse for withdrawing they could see how they could get along without me.

Hope for State Farms to Take Place of Jails—Purpose to Keep the Young From Contact With the Criminals

One of the most significant movements in the country today is the movement of the National Committee on Prisons and Prison Labor to substitute farms for jails.

At a meeting at Ardsley, N. Y., at the home of Adolph Lewisohn, the subject was discussed at some length. Said Mr. Lewisohn, honorary president of the Committee.

"The National Committee has received reports from all sections of the country indicating the appalling jail situation, due to the overcrowded jails. We have come to the conclusion that some constructive plan must be developed at once.

"There are 3,000 county and municipal jails throughout the country. They are overcrowded, with no attempt made to separate types of offenders, or the rehabilitation of the prisoner. The youthful come into contact with the hardened criminal and thus crime is bred. We intend to remedy this evil.

"The change is intended not only for the good of the prisoner but also for the community at large. All prisoners are not criminals, some being in jail awaiting trial with the possibility of acquittal."

County and municipal jails were described as "schools of crime" by Dr. B. L. Scott, director of the Bureau of Restoration of the Pennsylvania Department of Welfare. He was the leader in the campaign in Pennsylvania which resulted in legislation permitting counties to combine in establishing district penal farms for misdemeanor prisoners. Frank Bane, Commissioner of the Public Welfare Department in Virginia described the success of the penal farm system in his native state.

It is hoped to introduce bills extending the penal farm system, thus doing away with the overcrowded rural jail conditions.

FIFTEEN HOUR DAY IS RULE FOR PRESIDENT—COOLIDGE

Fifteen hours a day almost constant work, finishing at 10 o'clock or later at night, are required to discharge the duties of a President of the United States, according to Calvin Coolidge's latest article in The American Magazine.

Coolidge declares that the burdens of the Presidency are "appalling" and that "a power so vast in its implications has never been conferred upon any ruling sovereign."

"While it is wise for the President to get all the competent advice possible, final judgments are necessarily his own," he continues. "No one can share with him the responsibility for them. No one can make his decisions for him. He stands in the center of things where no one else can stand. If others make mistakes they can be relieved and oftentimes a remedy can be provided. But he cannot retire. His decisions are final and usually irrevocable. This constitutes the appalling burden of his office."

Coolidge points out that the actual duties of the President are but briefly outlined in the Constitution, but that every new administration faces problems that require presidential decisions and as a result new presidential power. He gives as an example, Jefferson's negotiation of the Louisiana Purchase. Jefferson himself doubted at first that the Constitution gave him the right to increase the territory of the nation, but when the facts were secured, he found full power to proceed.

"Yet," continues the former President, "he exercises his authority in accordance to the Constitution and the law. For all ordinary occasions the specific powers assigned to the President will be found sufficient to provide for the welfare of the country."

"While there are times when the people might enjoy the spectacular, in the end they will be satisfied only with accomplishments. The President gets the best advice he can find, uses the best judgment at his command and leaves the event in the hands of Providence."

HINTS FOR THE HOME

BY NANCY HART

The average rural family consumes almost five tons of food annually, or, to be exact, 9,371 pounds according to the figures of the Toledo Scale Company compiled a short time ago.

Of this amount the average man accounts for 2,177.7 pounds, or slightly less than one-quarter of the family's food. (This small percentage was as much of a surprise to us as to you!)

The largest single item of food consumed is milk—2,669 pounds being consumed annually. And the average farm family uses 484 pounds of eggs a year. Speaking in dollars and cents—of every dollar spent by Americans for food, 24.8 cents goes for milk and milk products. This is by far the largest single item in our food bill. It explains why doctors, inventors, business men and public commissions are constantly trying to devise ways to safeguard the quality and purity of milk.

Clam Fritters—A Good Summer Dish

Make a batter using 1 pint flour, 3 beaten eggs and 1 pint milk. Beat until free of lumps, then add ½ pint canned minced clams and juice. Fry batter as you would batter cakes. Nice served with fresh stewed tomatoes.

Serving Left-Over Rice

Cold rice may be reheated by steaming and served on a platter surrounded with carrots and peas and grilled tomatoes. Or add to cold rice enough thick cream to make of a good consistency for reheating. Season with pepper, add a lump of butter and serve instead of potatoes.

A Remedy for Warts (Repeated by request)

Dissolve as much common washing soda as the water will take up, wash repeatedly with solution, allowing to dry without wiping.

FIFTY-FIVE PEOPLE MAKE TRIP FROM AMARILLO BY AUTOMOBILE EACH DAY.

Amarillo furnishes 102 of the more than 1200 summer school students in attendance at the West Texas State Teachers College. Fifty-five of these prefer to drive back and forth each day rather than to board in Canyon. This plan will be especially convenient to Amarillo students after the completion of the paved highway from Canyon to Amarillo, bringing the two cities within thirty minutes of each other.

Of those Amarillo people who are in summer school, 21 are freshmen, 22 are sophomores, 42 juniors, 13 seniors, 2 graduates, and two special students. Thirty-two are majoring in primary education, 10 in history, and the remainder are widely scattered among the various departments of the college.

Those who are living in Amarillo and driving back and forth are: Sister M. BOASTFUL MALES DROWN; WOMEN SWIM IN SAFETY

Twenty-two times as many men as women drown each year, according to figures for New York beaches compiled by Nita Sheffield, noted teacher of swimming. "It's the disposition of men to strut that causes so many of them to lose their lives," says Miss Sheffield.

"During the past year 466 New Yorkers were drowned on the various beaches near the city," she continues. "Of these only twenty-one were women. As a rule there were about an equal number of men and girls on the beaches. Yet any life guard will say that he is called upon to rescue at least a dozen men to one woman."

"This simply indicates that the average male cannot resist the temptation to strut a bit in the water. On the other hand, if a woman is bent on showing off, the chances are that she will choose to do so on the beach, where she and her new bathing suit are safe. It's perfectly natural for a man to enjoy demonstrating his strength and skill in the water before his wife or his sweetheart. The trouble is he often gratifies his instinct to show off by swimming further than his strength or skill warrants."

THE SWEET POTATO

Sweet potatoes are either long and thin or short and chunky, and Eastern consumers prefer the short and chunky ones. This discovery led to research which resulted in an amazing manifestation of man's knowledge of the soil and man's power to direct the shape of vegetable growth.

The New Jersey State Agricultural Experiment Station proved that the chunky variety of sweet potato will grow only in soil to which a fertilizer rich in potassium in relation to nitrogen has been applied. On the basis of five years of experiment by Professor Schermerhorn, potato growers of New Jersey now have available a formula for fertilizer. Dr. W. R. Robbins further extended the work finding that short, chunky, potatoes have a high percentage of protein, and long thin ones a high percentage of carbohydrates.

Specifications were given as to the ideal dimensions of the commercial sweet potato. Four and a half inches long and two and a half inches thick.

We are willing to wager that these specifications will be met. And there is something inspiring in the thought. Now that the farmer can guide the destiny of the sweet potato, there's no telling what he'll be able to do next!

The New 15-30 McCormick-Deering

THE McCormick-Deering 15-30 Tractor is designed and built for the hardest, heaviest work you can give it. A great reserve of power is provided to meet any emergency, and great reserve strength is built into every part of the tractor to back up the powerful engine.

The backbone of the McCormick-Deering is the rigid one-piece main frame, which carries the engine, clutch, transmission, and differential assemblies. The illustration above shows how the various units are mounted in or on the main frame.

In the factory, the major units are assembled and tested separately, then set into the frame and securely fastened. Each unit can be easily removed for inspection or overhauling. All parts are replaceable.

All gears, bearings, shafts, and other important wearing parts are completely enclosed within the one-piece main frame where they run in an oil bath and are protected from dust and grit.

If you like to do your farm work fast and do it well, come in and let us show you the tractor that will buck into the toughest job and do it to your complete satisfaction—today, tomorrow, and every day—through a long, busy life. Or ask for a demonstration on your own farm.

MARION TALLEY'S MODEL FARM HOME

Not only has Marion Talley, famed opera star who announced she was giving up her career to enter agricultural activities, actually bought a farm, but she has decided to build a farm house to serve as a model for wives in the Kansas wheat belt.

Miss Talley's 360 acres near Colby, Kansas, are level, treeless, unbroken, with rich black dirt everywhere. It is ideal land for wheat. In the immediate vicinity of her farm, Charles M. Talley, her father, met and wooed her mother, Mrs. Talley.

Soon Miss Talley will begin to build her house on the ground she has purchased, and it will be equipped with all modern conveniences, especially in the kitchen.

Miss Talley hopes she can prove to Kansas farmers that their wives might just as well have the comforts and labor-saving devices of their city sisters. She plans to visit among them, encouraging the comforts and conveniences of new house keeping methods.

We want to wish Miss Talley great personal success in the operation of her farm. And express our admiration for her spirit of helpfulness in desiring to make her house a model for others.

DISHWASHING TWICE DAILY FOUND TO SAVE LABOR

Washing dishes twice a day instead of three times, is the latest labor saving device for housewives. The principal was invented by a University of Chicago girl who received a Master of Arts degree for her study of dishwashing.

For six months the girl assiduously washed dishes. She had two helpers, but not of the common kitchen variety. Instead, one held a stop watch and the other counted every movement made from clearing the table to the final putting away of the last fork.

Various types of soap and methods of rinsing and drying were tested, but the most interesting conclusions had to do with the organization of the work.

It appeared that the quickest plan was to stack the dishes for three meals and do them up at one operation just before lunch. Thus the day's dishes for a family of four could be cleaned and put away in twenty-two minutes and thirty-one seconds, using 1,015 movements.

As against washing up three times a day, 500 motions were saved.

The dishwashing expert declares that by the proper organization of the work, stacking up the dishes does not violate the ancient rules for a neat kitchen and avoids the fatigue that comes to every housewife after each meal, thereby making them more pleasant occasions.

Another result of the new scientific interest that is being shown in dishwashing, is the impending announcement of chemically compounded dishes that can be dissolved and disposed of down the drain and cheap enough so that new ones can be afforded for each meal.

GOOD POLICY

By Dr. John Joseph Gaines

Preaching is one thing; good business policy is another. Men find things to criticize in preaching; only a dumb-bell opposes the safe and sane business proposition.

If you study your newspaper as you should, then take note of the great number who are overtaken in crime, folly, and other wrongdoing. Set the number down in your memorandum-book each day for a month. The number will astonish you—and the sad total will be a shouting, thundering argument for right living.

There is absolutely no excuse for doing wrong—for it is the poorest business policy in the world; why? because it leads inevitably to disaster.

Take intoxicating drink, for instance. Over-indulgence, or, for that matter, taking it under any circumstances save under advice of a good doctor for illness—is a very, very poor business policy. Why? Because its victims are legion.

If cheating, defrauding and falsifying were not wrong morally, it would remain one of the worst business policies. Such an operator may apparently succeed for a time, but will surely be exposed in time, and bring sorrow to the perpetrator.

The price of a clear conscience is beyond doubt effort well expended. Compared with the dividends reaped, the clear conscience pays more than the best stocks on the market today. To maintain a spotless character and reputation is to have the best credit and backing in the world.

Every man knows right from wrong by native intuition. Every man has been at the forks of the road. It has always paid to turn to the right. There is no better business.

The square shooter is the happy man; the crook does not know the meaning of happiness, because always apprehensive; he is never sure of being safe; his restlessness becomes self-torture in course of time. The best business policy in the world is—the Golden Rule.

FASHIONS IN BATH ROOMS SET FOR WORLD BY U. S. A.

Bathroom fashions are being set for the entire world by the United States, according to a survey.

"It is quite possible," says Hazel Rawson Cades, author of the article, "that down the centuries we shall be known as the people who glorified bathrooms. There have been other periods, notably the Roman, when bathing was popular and elaborate, but our immediate ancestors regarded it mostly as a private, necessary and uncomfortable performance. That anybody should entertain the suggestion that a bathroom be photographed and shown in a public print would have been considered as indecorous as airing the bed clothes out of Queen Victoria's windows."

"The plumber, once absorbed by problems of drainage, now turns his grave attention to becoming colors in bathtubs. Mural painters are recruited to decorate the walls with ships and fishes and animals. Architects specialize in bathroom plans. The bathroom, from the standpoint of looks and use, rivals any room in the house. And bathing threatens to encroach upon all other diversions."

"Running salt water and fresh. Dissolving bath crystals in splendid rotation of jasmine, lavender, pine needles and rose-geranium. Leaping backward and forward on non-slip mats. Adjusting back cushions that fasten on with suction cups. Reading Water Babies in a non-splashable cover, propped up on a rack that also is held to the tub by suction cups. Submerging sponge elephants and sailing celluloid boats. I can, seriously, imagine being so enthralled by the entertainments of the modern bath room as to forget all social obligations and simply bathe away my days."

"I'd hate to think there still exists anybody who can be stony-hearted about the soaps and salts, oils and powders that lend such sweet temporal pleasure to the bath."

COLLEGES ARE OPENED TO WORKING WOMEN

Two fashionable eastern colleges, Bryn Mawr and Barnard, have thrown open their halls to working women for the summer months. The system is expected to be urged by educators in other parts of the country.

Students in the schools are working women who have been awarded scholarships for work done at home or in night schools and the courses they follow in the colleges are the standard ones studied by the rich and fashionable girls who are there during the winter months.

Writing of her scholarship, Miss Augusta Popkin of Brooklyn says: "It is such a change for people who have been thinking more or less incoherently about things to come to a college and meet well-ordered minds and discover how many things are simple and well thought-out. To have grown up without the opportunity for self-expression and with no ability to express one's self and to be suddenly thrust into a place where ideas are thrown at you, is an experience worth having. One comes to a realization of one's place in the world; one becomes aware of the great fabric of society." Miss Popkin won her scholarship while working in a millinery store.

George Bernard Shaw is reported saying that he is tempted to have his head cut off. Well, he should know what is best.

Probably "Who's Who" of the future will include only the names of those who are famous enough to get pay for their testimonials.

SPREADING OF CHRISTIANITY HINDERED, SAYS MISSIONARY

Four great hindrances are checking the spread of Christianity, according to Dr. E. Stanley Jones, author and one of the foremost missionaries in the foreign field.

Narrow denominationalism is the greatest obstacle, he declares in an interview. Second he lists "the appalling dearth of reality in the religious life of a great number of professed Christians." Race prejudice is set down as the third obstacle and fourth is the economic exploitation of Christianity.

Discussing each, Dr. Jones, who for years has been a missionary in India, pointed out instances of hostility between denominations that hindered constructive work, for example a recent Christian conference in Lausanne, Switzerland, which failed because representatives of the various denominations could not agree. It is the what of our religion that divides us; we are all united in the whom; he concluded.

As to the unreality in religious life, Dr. Jones called attention to the fact that too many persons follow the teachings of Christ only during their hours of devotion and thereby repel those who are trying to accept the teachings. "It is not only the grosser hypocrites that give the lie to religion," he continued. "The smugness, the complacency, the dullness, the mechanical routine that passes for religion and is only religious respectability—these things smother the soul."

Race prejudice, that against Asia-tics in America, for instance, Dr. Jones called a formidable obstacle. Christ is accepted as a great teacher and leader in India, he declared, but the natives of that country will not enter a Christian church to hear of him because of white prejudice against them. Ghandi was prevented from becoming a Christian through this prejudice, says Dr. Jones.

MARION TALLEY'S MODEL FARM HOME

Not only has Marion Talley, famed opera star who announced she was giving up her career to enter agricultural activities, actually bought a farm, but she has decided to build a farm house to serve as a model for wives in the Kansas wheat belt.

Miss Talley's 360 acres near Colby, Kansas, are level, treeless, unbroken, with rich black dirt everywhere. It is ideal land for wheat. In the immediate vicinity of her farm, Charles M. Talley, her father, met and wooed her mother, Mrs. Talley.

Soon Miss Talley will begin to build her house on the ground she has purchased, and it will be equipped with all modern conveniences, especially in the kitchen.

Miss Talley hopes she can prove to Kansas farmers that their wives might just as well have the comforts and labor-saving devices of their city sisters. She plans to visit among them, encouraging the comforts and conveniences of new house keeping methods.

We want to wish Miss Talley great personal success in the operation of her farm. And express our admiration for her spirit of helpfulness in desiring to make her house a model for others.

DISHWASHING TWICE DAILY FOUND TO SAVE LABOR

Washing dishes twice a day instead of three times, is the latest labor saving device for housewives. The principal was invented by a University of Chicago girl who received a Master of Arts degree for her study of dishwashing.

For six months the girl assiduously washed dishes. She had two helpers, but not of the common kitchen variety. Instead, one held a stop watch and the other counted every movement made from clearing the table to the final putting away of the last fork.

Various types of soap and methods of rinsing and drying were tested, but the most interesting conclusions had to do with the organization of the work.

It appeared that the quickest plan was to stack the dishes for three meals and do them up at one operation just before lunch. Thus the day's dishes for a family of four could be cleaned and put away in twenty-two minutes and thirty-one seconds, using 1.015 movements.

As against washing up three times a day, 500 motions were saved.

The dishwashing expert declares that by the proper organization of the work, stacking up the dishes does not violate the ancient rules for a neat kitchen and avoids the fatigue that comes to every housewife after each meal, thereby making them more pleasant occasions.

Another result of the new scientific interest that is being shown in dishwashing, is the impending announcement of chemically compounded dishes that can be dissolved and disposed of down the drain and cheap enough so that new ones can be afforded for each meal.

GOOD POLICY

By Dr. John Joseph Gaines

Preaching is one thing; good business policy is another. Men find things to criticize in preaching; only a dumb-bell opposes the safe and sane business proposition.

If you study your newspaper as you should, then take note of the great number who are overtaken in crime, folly, and other wrongdoing. Set the number down in your memorandum-book each day for a month. The number will astonish you—and the sad total will be a shouting, thundering argument for right living.

There is absolutely no excuse for doing wrong—for it is the poorest business policy in the world; why? because it leads inevitably to disaster.

Take intoxicating drink, for instance. Over-indulgence, or, for that matter, taking it under any circumstances save under advice of a good doctor for illness—is a very, very poor business policy. Why? Because its victims are legion.

If cheating, defrauding and falsifying were not wrong morally, it would remain one of the worst business policies. Such an operator may apparently succeed for a time, but will surely be exposed in time, and bring sorrow to the perpetrator.

The price of a clear conscience is beyond doubt effort well expended. Compared with the dividends reaped, the clear conscience pays more than the best stocks on the market today. To maintain a spotless character and reputation is to have the best credit and backing in the world. Every man knows right from wrong by native intuition. Every man has been at the forks of the road. It has always paid to turn to the right. There is no better business.

The square shooter is the happy man; the crook does not know the meaning of happiness, because always apprehensive; he is never sure of being safe; his restlessness becomes self-torture in course of time. The best business policy in the world is—the Golden Rule.

FASHIONS IN BATH ROOMS SET FOR WORLD BY U. S. A.

Bathroom fashions are being set for the entire world by the United States, according to a survey.

"It is quite possible," says Hazel Rawson Cades, author of the article, "that down the centuries we shall be known as the people who glorified bathrooms. There have been other periods, notably the Roman, when bathing was popular and elaborate, but our immediate ancestors regarded it mostly as a private, necessary and uncomfortable performance. That anybody should entertain the suggestion that a bathroom be photographed and shown in a public print would have been considered as indecorous as airing the bed clothes out of Queen Victoria's windows."

"The plumber, once absorbed by problems of drainage, now turns his grave attention to becoming colors in bathtubs. Mural painters are recruited to decorate the walls with ships and fishes and animals. Architects specialize in bathroom plans. The bathroom, from the standpoint of looks and use, rivals any room in the house. And bathing threatens to encroach upon all other diversions."

"Running salt water and fresh. Dissolving bath crystals in splendid rotation of jasmine, lavender, pine needles and rose-geranium. Leaping backward and forward on non-slip mats. Adjusting back cushions that fasten on with suction cups. Reading Water Babies in a non-splashable cover, propped up on a rack that also is held to the tub by suction cups. Submerging sponge elephants and sailing celluloid boats. I can, seriously, imagine being so enthralled by the entertainments of the modern bathroom as to forget all social obligations and simply bathe away my days."

"I'd hate to think there still exists anybody who can be stony-hearted about the soaps and salts, oils and powders that lend such sweet temporal pleasure to the bath."

COLLEGES ARE OPENED TO WORKING WOMEN

Two fashionable eastern colleges, Bryn Mawr and Barnard, have thrown open their halls to working women for the summer months. The system is expected to be urged by educators in other parts of the country.

Students in the schools are working women who have been awarded scholarships for work done at home or in night schools and the courses they follow in the colleges are the standard ones studied by the rich and fashionable girls who are there during the winter months.

powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your red-blood-cells back to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again and you sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady. You are resistant to diseases.

S.S.S. is Nature's own tonic for improving the appetite, building strength, and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles, by increasing the red-cells of the blood.

S.S.S. is made from fresh vegetable drugs and has stood the test of over 100 years.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Wheat harvest is in full swing, most turning out well. But little gleaned from the fields hit by hail. A severe blow to a goodly number. A few orchards and gardens and some poultry were in the path of the hail storms.

Mrs. Eugene Carter and Billy Jean with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Mayo visited Wayside friends Wednesday morning. Two last named expected to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Knight this week south of Wayside.

While cranking a car Monday morning Mowry Gillham sustained a serious cut on the forehead.

BRAINS AND SOIL. MACDONALD READS HAZLITT. THE FEAR OF DEATH. A BRAVE COW.

This nation, with its annual income of NINETY THOUSAND MILLIONS of dollars, treats education generously. But the value of education depends not on money, but on the brains on which the education money is spent. A crop depends not entirely on the seed, but more on the soil.

Nearly nine hundred years ago, when Abelard taught logic and theology to young men in the University of Paris, they gathered in wintertime in a stone lined room, not heated, taking notes by candle light.

And many, too poor to pay for candles, climbed the church steeple on bright moonlight nights to continue their studies there by moonlight.

A few such students might be worth more to the world than a thousand million dollars of endowment. Edison gave to the world more money than wealth has ever given to education. So did Pasteur. Neither ever went to college.

Ramsey MacDonald flying from Scotland to London in a British bombing plane, a parachute strapped over his leather flying coat, read Hazlitt on the way.

Hazlitt, who worked himself into a fury over the French Revolution, quarrelling with everybody that did not approve it, little thought that within 100 years of his death a Socialist Laborite would be Prime Minister of England without any revolution.

Still less did Hazlitt imagine that a British Labor Prime Minister would fly to his work.

Max D. Steuer, brilliant New York lawyer, says the best cure for any man that fears death is Hazlitt's essay on death.

Briefly Hazlitt says that, since we don't worry because we were not alive 100 years ago, we should not worry because we won't be alive or conscious a hundred years hence.

In rural England, a huge lion, knocked out of his cage in an automobile collision, jumped into a cow pasture. A cow with a young calf dashed at him, and gored him, attacking him again and again, until he killed her. Others, later, killed him.

The cow, not the lion is the interesting animal, in that story, for she represents mother love, with its boundless courage. How many men would have attacked the lion with no better weapons than a cow's horns.

Consider also the marvelous inheritance of memory. The cow's ancestors, probably had not seen a dangerous wild beast in more than a 1,000 years. But, at sight, the cow knew that the lion meant danger to her calf and rushed to the attack. Man is not the only animal "fearfully and wonderfully made."

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
Louella Gregory vs. W. C. Gregory. In the District Court, Randall County, Texas.

The State of Texas to the Sheriff or any Constable of Randall County—Greeting: You are hereby commanded, that by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Randall once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon W. C. Gregory, whose residence is unknown, who is alleged to be non-resident of the State of Texas, to be and appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Randall County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in the City of Canyon, Texas, on the First Monday in August, A. D. 1929, the same being the 5th day of August A. D. 1929, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 24 day of April A. D. 1929, in a suit, numbered on the Docket of said Court, No. _____, wherein, Louella Gregory is plaintiff, and W. C. Gregory is defendant; the nature of plaintiff's demand being substantially, as follows, to-wit:

Plaintiff, Mrs. Louella Gregory, a resident of Randall County, Texas, married W. C. Gregory the 25th day of August, 1912, at Throckmorton, Texas, and plaintiff and defendant lived together as man and wife until on or about May 1st, 1918, when without any provocation or cause whatever defendant voluntarily left and abandoned plaintiff with the intention of finally separating and living apart from her, and has continued so to do up to the time of the filing of this petition, since which time they have not lived together as man and wife. Plaintiff and defendant have been separated, and such abandonment on the part of the defendant has continued for over three years; that defendant abandoned plaintiff, left the plaintiff and that they have since lived apart without cohabitation for ten years next preceding this suit.

Plaintiff further alleges that the defendant's actions and conduct towards her by reason of such desertion and abandonment are of such nature as to render their living together insupportable, premises considered.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays the Court that the defendant be cited to answer this petition, that on final hearing plaintiff have judgment dissolving such marriage relation, for costs of suit, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that she may be justly entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court on the first day of next term thereof this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in the City of Canyon, Texas, this 7th day of June, A. D. 1929.

I Am the Master Salesman

Lo, the people of the earth do me homage.

I am the herald of success for men, merchants, manufacturers, municipalities and nations.

I go forth to tell the world the message of service and sound merchandise. And the world listens when I speak.

There was a day long ago, when by sheer weight of superior merit, a business could rise above the common level without me, but that day has passed into oblivion.

For those who have used me as their servant I have gathered untold millions into their coffers.

I Sell More Merchandise

— per dollar of salary paid me than any other salesman on the face of the earth. The fabled lamp of Aladdin never called to the service of its master genii half so rich and powerful as I am, to the man who keeps me constantly on the payroll.

I Hold The Business---

of the seasons in the hollow of my hand. I command the legions of fashion, mold the styles and lead the world whithersoever I go. I drive unprincipled business to cover, and sound the death-knell of inferior merchandise. Frauds are afraid of me because I march in the broad light of day.

Whoever Makes Me Their Servant—

for life takes no chances on drawing down dividends from my untold treasures bestowed with a lavish hand.

I have awakened and inspired nations, sent millions of men to fight the battles of freedom beyond the seas, and raised billions of dollars to foot the bills. Nations and kings pay me homage and the business world bows at my feet.

I sow broad fields for you to reap a golden harvest.

I am the Master Salesman at your service

Plaintiff, Mrs. Louella Gregory, a resident of Randall County, Texas, married W. C. Plaintiff and defendant have been separated, and such abandonment on the part of the defendant has continued for over three years, that defendant abandoned and deserted plaintiff on or about May 1st, 1918, since which time plaintiff has not lived with defendant, nor has she seen nor heard of him or his whereabouts since May 1st, 1918.

I Am the Master Salesman

Lo, the people of the earth do me homage.

I am the herald of success for men, merchants, manufacturers, municipalities and nations.

I go forth to tell the world the message of service and sound merchandise. And the world listens when I speak.

There was a day long ago, when by sheer weight of superior merit, a business could rise above the common level without me, but that day has passed into oblivion.

For those who have used me as their servant I have gathered untold millions into their coffers.

I Sell More Merchandise

— per dollar of salary paid me than any other salesman on the face of the earth. The fabled lamp of Aladdin never called to the service of its master genii half so rich and powerful as I am, to the man who keeps me constantly on the payroll.

I Hold The Business---

of the seasons in the hollow of my hand. I command the legions of fashion, mold the styles and lead the world whithersoever I go. I drive unprincipled business to cover, and sound the death-knell of inferior merchandise. Frauds are afraid of me because I march in the broad light of day.

Whoever Makes Me Their Servant—

for life takes no chances on drawing down dividends from my untold treasures bestowed with a lavish hand.

I have awakened and inspired nations, sent millions of men to fight the battles of freedom beyond the seas, and raised billions of dollars to foot the bills. Nations and kings pay me homage and the business world bows at my feet.

I sow broad fields for you to reap a golden harvest.

I am the Master Salesman at your service

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Since God in his Almighty Wisdom has seen fit to call one of our dear sisters, Susie Ackerman, reminding us that we too may be called without warning, we bow in humble submission to his will.

"An' watch beside a loved one's bed, an' know that Death is nigh;

An' in the stillness o' the night to see Death's angel come,

An' close the eyes o' her that smiled an' leave her sweet voice dumb.

For these are scenes that grip the heart, an' when your tears are dried,

Ye find the home is dearer than it was, an' sanctified.

An' tuggin' at ye always are the pleasant memories

O' her that was an' is no more—ye can't escape from these."

Be It Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be furnished the bereaved family, a copy to the Canyon News for publication, and a copy be placed on the Minutes of the Canyon Rebekah Lodge, No. 350.

FAREWELL, SHERLOCK HOLMES

Sherlock Holmes is dead. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle has again announced that he will never revive this world-famous character.

But not only is he dead in fiction—the Sherlock Holmes type of detective is now seen as doomed in fact.

Baffling mysteries are no longer to be solved by cleverness. They are to be unraveled by scientific experts relying upon standardization methods of precise identification.

Before the National Conference of Weights and Measures at Washington, William Souder of the Bureau of Standards some weeks ago made predictions that may eventually take all the romance out of criminal hunting.

He showed how the most cunning criminal of the future will be discovered through super-microscopes that will tear his identity from a typewritten document, a pistol ball, a cartridge shell or a signature.

The coming out and dried methods may take some of the thrill out of the accounts of the exploits of detectives on the trail. But they may eventually reduce crime to a minimum by making discovery virtually certain.

HINTS FOR THE HOME

If you keep poultry and want to know just how good your hens are as layers, compare them with some standard figures.

A blue-ribbon hen, champion of a state or section, lays a few over 300 eggs a year. An ordinary hen under average conditions will lay about 100. In one great national contest where ordinary hens are subjected to scientific care they lay 182 eggs each year. This figure was 128 until the ultra-violet ray was utilized by installing in the poultry house a glass substitute on a wire mesh base.

Sunday's Breakfast

Diced pineapple and orange

Rice with cream

Creamed codfish

Potato cakes

Coffee.

Potato and Bacon Roll

For a light summer meat and vegetable combination take 2 cups mashed potatoes, add 1 egg well beaten and 2 tbs. milk. Mix thoroughly, add a little flour and form into small oblong croquettes. Wrap thin slices of bacon around each croquette and fasten with a toothpick. Set in hot oven until bacon is brown and crisp. Serve immediately.

Squash with Onion

Boil till tender 3 or 4 small squash. Drain and mash. Slice an onion and soften in butter the size of an egg. When light brown and tender add the squash, season with pepper, salt and a bit of sugar and let cook five minutes.

Easy Picnic Sandwiches

Mix 5 lbs. tomato catsup or chili sauce; add enough cold water to make of nice consistency to spread, beat well and spread on unbuttered bread.
